It's a fact that everyone has monthly bills. Electric, gas, cell phone, TV, Internet, and the list goes on. And no matter how broke or wealthy someone may be, these essential services are needed and can never be paid off. Think about the brokest person you know, do they have a cell phone? What about the wealthiest person you know, can they pay off their utility bill?

So when a global company is open in 24 countries and endorsed by one of the wealthiest people in the world, who just so happened to feature this company not once, but twice on his hit primetime reality TV show and says you should find out more... do you think you should hear more about it?

What if the same company said they'd pay you handsomely for helping others get paid when they pay their monthly essential bills, would you want to know even more?

Fabian Brown did, and it's paying off in an incredible way for him, his wife, and family of 10 amazing children! It's only been a short period of time since his family started their home-based business helping people achieve their financial goals and showing them how they too can get paid every time they pay their own monthly bills.

"I was always skeptical of all the promises from other companies that say you could become rich over night only to find out you have to sell a bunch of stuff and then teach others to sell more stuff," says Fabian.

“Our company is different: We offer savings and market security on services that people pay on a monthly basis like electricity, gas, TV, internet, cell phones, home security and more. And I don’t sell anything! I just simply show others how to save money or save and make money on services they were going to use anyway!”

“In this declining economy, home-based businesses are on the rise. People want to supplement their income and possibly replace their incomes while working from home. So the opportunity to get paid every single month when someone turns on their lights, heats their home, uses their cell phone, watches TV or browses the internet is a no-brainer,” he says.

The way Fabian has grown in this business is by following the system the company offers all of its independent business owners. He educates people that they can get the same service from the same major service, but get paid. Then, all he does is direct them to his online store, which is included in the companies start up business package.

“Our system can be 100% automated for you,” he explains. “Simply direct potential customers to your online store that the company provides for you, and they can sign up for any of these services with many of the major companies that are available in their area. When they sign up on your online, you receive a percentage of their bill every month when they pay for their service. It’s passive residual income. There is nothing more residual than our bills, so we might as well attach our income to it!”

The key to his success, he says, is that he doesn’t complicate his business;

“We are going to pay these bills anyway, might as well get Paid on these bills!”

he just goes out and shares the company’s program and his personal story. “Before you join some other company that makes some pie in the sky promises, ask yourself this. Would the people I know buy this product/service even if I wasn’t involved with this company? If the answer is NO then you should be prepared to be in sales. Because no matter how much they say you can make, it won’t matter if you can’t sell.

“I’ve been fortunate to have had the right leaders and mentors educate me in this industry. Our team has expanded all over the world by sharing this simple concept with others.” Fabian is looking to pass on his mentorship with the right motivated individuals in 2015. Would you like it to be you?

“Deregulation of Energy providers around the country has opened up a significant opportunity for more people to choose who they get their service with, people like to know they have a choice,” Fabian says. “This, in turn, creates more opportunity for entrepreneurs to grow their business with our company”
